

PRESS RELEASE

Protect and secure with Prune & Seal

Neudorff is introducing its new Prune & Seal product, made especially for recovering and protecting exposed wood after pruning or branch damage, at Glee 2015.

Pruning branches is an essential task to allow for new growth and improved circulation, but pruning wounds can often lead to unintentional tree damage that can get worse over time if left untreated.

Neudorff Prune & Seal works two fold; it reliably seals exposed wood and then actively works to protect the pruning wounds on trees such as birch, elm and oak against additional weathering, harmful pest infestations and disease. The formula can even be applied in frosty conditions, down to – 10 °C.

The tried and tested formula is suitable for all types of fruit-bearing and ornamental trees, and is available in a special ready-to-use brush pack. Evenly applied over the cut surface with a thin covering, Prune & Seal also ensures that the edges of the wound are properly coated and cared for.

Neudorff Prune & Seal (RRP £5.99) is available in 250 ml bottles, which is enough formula to maintain natural, quality protection throughout the year.
