Organic solid fertilisers now available in handy, weatherproof pouches

Neudorff's popular range of organic solid fertilisers is now also available in rainproof, easy-to-use 1.25 kg pouches to maximise convenience.

The range includes a multipurpose formula; feed for tomatoes and vegetables; roses and shrubs; rhododendron, azalea and camellia plants and flowering plants.

Neudorff's new fertiliser pouches have been designed to be water resistant so gardeners can store them in the shed or greenhouse without worrying about the packaging getting damp and damaged over time. Thanks to the resealable bag, the fertiliser remains dry, doesn't cake, and is easy to spread.

Neudorff's 100% organic solid fertilisers are environmentally safe and contain a combination of soil improving microorganisms. The range has been specifically created to develop the healthy growth of roots and plants. Mycorrhiza fungi used in each formula enhances plant root systems to increase their size by up to 150 times. The naturally bound nutrients continue to feed for up to 100 days so gardeners can spend less time fertilising and more time enjoying their garden.
