Get tough on ants with Neudorff's AntFree Ant Killer Granules

Infestations of ants around the house on paths, patios and terraces can be controlled quickly and effectively, thanks to Neudorff's AntFree Ant Killer Granules. Using a natural active ingredient, the product is certified by the Organic Farmers & Growers Association (OF&G).

During the warmer months, problems with ants are commonplace outdoors around the house, as their tunnelling wreaks havoc on hard standings. Ants can be a menace from spring through to autumn, hollowing-out gaps in paths and in-between paving slabs, leaving an unsightly and slippery mess.

Guy Jenkins, Consumer Manager at Neudorff's UK distribution Partner, DLF Seeds Ltd, said: "AntFree Ant Killer Granules are versatile in use: they can be scattered straight from the pack, or dissolved in water and applied with a watering can. When watered in, the treatment is most effective, as the natural ingredient in AntFree Ant Killer Granules penetrates deep within the ants' nests, thereby reaching insects that do not have access to the surface. This ensures that unwanted visitors are sustainably controlled and the nest is killed quickly and effectively."

Neudorff's AntFree Ant Killer Granules are based on the natural ingredient pyrethrins, derived from Chrysanthemum cinerariaefolium extract.

To gain rapid and effective control, Neudorff recommends that AntFree Ant Killer Granules are applied by watering can, with surfaces treated as early in the morning as possible. It should be ensured that the solution enters all cracks and joints near the nest when treating patios and paths.
